

Letters to the Editor

From: "Amarnath Bhadra" <amarnathhow@yahoo.com>
To: "Sudhendu Mandal" <smandalbot@gmail.com>
Sent: Tue, 12 Mar 2024 at 8:22 PM
Subject: Re:

Respected Sir,

I take this opportunity to thank the editor and the editorial board of the Science and Culture to come out with the issue of the January-February 2024 Vol. 90 that contains valuable and informative articles as well as classic article on Dr. Miss Jamini Sen and A tribute to Dr. M.S. Swaminathan. It is indeed great achievement and proud moment for the reader's community to have triggered interest to learning more and more articles on innovation of technology and research oriented article to rekindling our interest .Indian scientists and engineers have always played a very important and key role in nation building after post independence periods.

Since we have entered into the kartava kaal as envisioned by the Government of India, it is imperative for the scientific knowledge to percolate to the society through the dissemination of knowledge by the way of reading more and more venture to looking forward for thought provoking article like this current issue.

At the end I commend the editorial board members of S and C journal s journey to providing high quality content that keeps all of us updated with the cutting edge technology and that too also inspire reader's. As the country aspire to become a developed country by the end of the year 2047. We always look forward towards more innovative technologies related article on the holistically aligned approach to combat the problem of the climate change and to hit NZE by the end of the year 2070 also as announced by the Government of India during the Glasgow Summit.

With best regards,

Yours faithfully,

Amar Nath Bhadra
Member, ISNA and former Student, Training Programme
e-mail: amarnathhow@yahoo.com