

SPICES AND HERBS : A HISTORICAL OVERVIEW

SISIR K. MAJUMDAR*

The use of spice and herb is as old as mankind. Their spectrum of use is determined by their availability in different geographic regions, culture, climate, and religious rituals, trade, tradition and people's economic capability. This short article attempts to review some salient aspects of spice and herb use and trade from a sociological, historical and economic viewpoint.
