

COMBINATORIAL CHEMISTRY-EMERGING TECHNOLOGY IN SYNTHESIS OF NEW DRUG MOLECULES

SWASTIKA GANGULY*

With ever present economic pressures and an increase in the demand of new drug molecules, pharmaceutical industries have reverted to Combinatorial Chemistry, a new subfield of chemistry to accelerate the drug discovery process. This paper discusses the principles, methodology, current techniques used by industries involving this novel strategy, usefulness and limitations of this technique.